Victoria General Hospital

Nursing Students'

Golden Anniversary Yearbook

1968

Fifty years ago this year Victoria General Hospital graduated its first class of two students. The school as such didn't exist at the time and the "program" differed exceedingly from that of the present graduating class.

The intervening fifty years have seen the training program move from "nursing service" to minimum service with the emphasis on education, and from three years to two and one half years.

The hospital, always small, but busy, has moved consistently ahead: 1931 saw the first qualified dietician hired and so the first course in the Diet Kitchen for students was begun; in 1943 three eight hour shifts replaced two twelve hour shifts. In 1951 the West Wing was built and in 1958 the present residence was opened -- freeing CE for the patients again as students had lived there while the residence was under construction.

The sixties have seen much talk of the "New Vic" to be built in Fort Garry. The next fifty years will see the dream become reality, but to prepare for a smooth move the Prototype Unit opened in May 1967, replacing the Maternity Ward. The new unit runs on the same lines as wards in the new hospital will and as another step forward, 1968 will see the functioning of the Prototype Computer System -- designed to remove the load of paper work from the shoulders of nursing personnel so that they may spend more time with the patients.

The School of Nursing is now standing on the threshold of the two year nursing program which will begin in September 1968.

Thus have both school and hospital moved steadily forward in the past fifty years.

We can and do take pride in saying, on this special anniversary, we are part of the "Vic".

Validictory Address

"The years have flashed by like a week.

But the memories are ours to keep."

It seems only yesterday that we entered through the doorway of our school of nursing and yet we sit before you as the fiftieth graduating class.

Our three years of training are comparable to the three seasons -- spring, summer, and fall.

In the spring we were like tiny seeds planted in the hospital, which was the soil from which we grew. The instructors were the gardeners who cultivated us and tried to protect us when we found ourselves in the midst of a storm. To you we extend our appreciation and gratitude.

Mom and dad, you were the warmth and sunshine so very necessary to our growth and nuturing. To you we are deeply indebted.

The summer has quickly sped by as summers do in this part of the country, and we are into fall. Fall is the time to reap what has been sown. May the harvest be a rich one.

To the first year class this honourable occasion is very new. I hope you will continue to strive and work toward your goal. To the second year class this is a big step. You are now seniors. We leave you with this quotation:

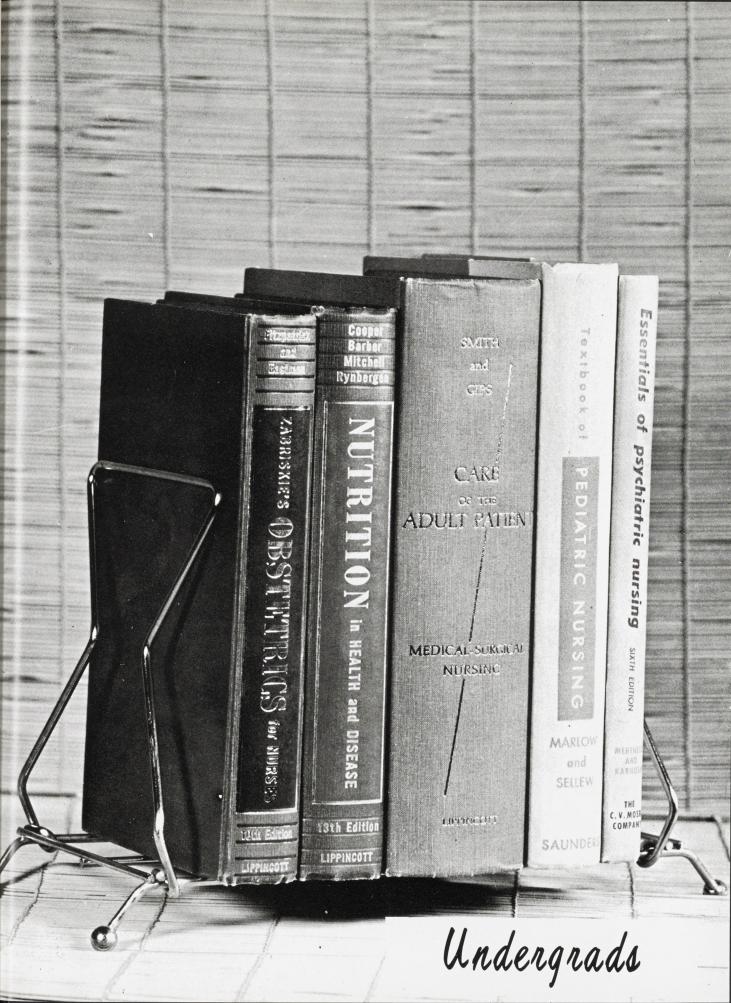

"Life demands of you only the strength you possess.

The great thing is never to run away."

I would like to close my address with a few worthy words for my classmates.

"When travelling life's highway
And all your days are clover,
Remember folk who helped you
And the bridge that carried you over."

Class of 1969

GAIL BROWNELL Innocent Friday nights???

JANET BUSCH Jan is humming a sweet MEL-lody this year.

JUDY CLARKE Says February is a good month?

MRS. A. GUNTHER "Well sometimes things do get a little hectic."

CAROL CZARNACKI Some names are long, some names are short; In time, you will see, Carol's will change from 9 to 3.

FERN EGAR Social life as well as nursing are 2 of Fern's main interests.

JO GANCZAR "Joe" insists her only ambition in life is to get her R. N. but we're convinced she's out for her M. R. S.

LORRAINE HOOPER Hooper's main project is to own a super dooper red Ford.

JUNE KING
June is the quiet one of the class but it's the quiet ones you have to watch.

NELSON McCLELLAND Says he doesn't think much of commuting this year.

ELAINE McKUCH
She can be found studying very hard at hours when most others are in bed.

MARJORIE NICHOLIZEN There is only one bill on a bird, but the number for is absurd.

SUSAN PITCHFORD What goes on on those weekends, Susan?

LINDA TODD Her, quiet and shy??

BARBARA SCOTT She keeps looking for mail; is that the correct spelling, Scotty?

JUDY STEPHENSON It takes a man of men to keep Judy in -- but he did it!

DOROTHY WILSON Quiet Dorothy is no longer. Did Memorial Park do it?

KIM NAAYKENS Can often be heard saying "Did we have to do that?"

GLORIA GROVE Laugh and the world laughs with you. Cry and I'll laugh anyway.

CAROL SINCLAIR
Carol we all sympathize with you re: your room-mate, but this bit about talking to yourself at night has gone too far.

HAZEL GRAHAM Likes hiding in closets every now and then.

LINDA STOESZ Love's blind! Somebody please find my glasses.

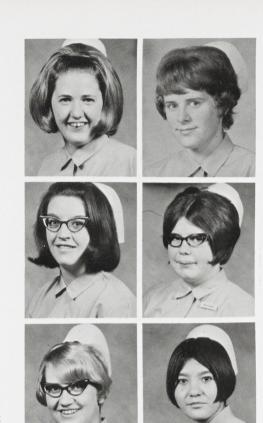

MABEL HART Stands in the shadow of a mighty name, but under this shadow she will conquer, she hopes.

SYLVIA CAMPBELL Sylvia from across the land Writes to Ralston every day Learning nursing in Canada Jamaica is very far away.

VAL McFADDEN
If it's Ron, tell him I'm out with Don; if it's Don, tell him I'm out with Jim; and if it's Barry, I'll talk to him.

LOIS MAUS
She has the light of understanding in heart which shall never be put out.

CAROL BREMNER
She sure looks innocent "But what about that strip tease, Carol? and where does Unit 17 go for it's sex education?"

MARION BROWN Looks like an angel, but looks are often deceiving.

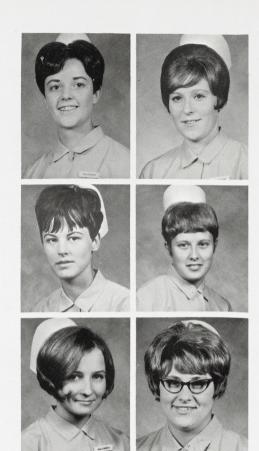

BEVERLY McLEAN Never give up, for 50 years the horse was said to be through -- now look at him -- a status symbol.

MAUREEN RUSK
Who could it be that she thinks of when she kisses her pink dog good-night? Oh well it's only three more years.

BETTY-ANN STEER Cheer up, you're not completely worthless. You can always serve as a bad example.

PATTY SHWETS Smart kid from Dauphin who swipes stuffed animals. Her big ambition is to become an R. N. and own a Corvet Sting Ray.

PAT CHAYKOWSKI Just what has this kid got against co-operating with the yearbook staff?

GRACE SHUMILAK
Better late than never. I wonder, did she learn from experience?

CATHY HULL Like a dependable light I go out every night.

DONNA GROVE
Is she or isn't she? Only her cousin knows for sure.

CONNIE HANSON Loves pufft wheat so much that for a substitute settles for pussy willows.

ROBBIE BURLING Angel! that noise is just her halo rattling.

LINDA TURNER
All boys come from the same mould. Only some are mouldier than others.

PATTI PILLING Don't tell me what I mean -- let me figure it out myself.

BARBARA FORREST Not a leader of women, but a follower of men.

CAROLYN DILL Class of '70's Disaster Area. "I can't scratch my head; I'm afraid of getting splinters."

LEONA HALL
"One of our avid pop-corn fans."

ROBERTA LISTER When I feel like studying; I lie down until the attack passes.

LOUISE ROMBOUGH Well, Lou, it's about those mornings when doors just walk right into you.

Director of Nursing Education

Writing a yearbook message to the Class of 1968 is for some reason, difficult. I sense this is because saying "good bye" is inconceivable while so involved in developing the new program to be introduced in September. For me, you are so much part of this development as we work through together the changing approach to senior classes that it can't be time for you to leave! You will continue to live in the course through the many things you have taught us.

It is up to you to demonstrate the success of our time together. God Bless you and keep you always.

Student Organization

We are fortunate in our School to have the size of Student Organization we do because it allows the whole Student Body to meet each month and plan its course rather than only twice a year as in larger Schools. Be proud of your Organization; don't let it become stagnant in a rut of old ways -- good as some of those ways may be. Instead, be brave enough to try new ways and methods to make your Organization live and grow.

My personal thanks to each of you for your help and active participation in the activities of this past year. You were a great group to work with and for. To the classes of 1969 and 1970 we wish patience and perseverance. Carry on, it's not long now. To my own classmates: We have shared much in the past three years; we will share less in the future; but each of us will keep forever one thing in common -- friendships that will last a lifetime. All the best wherever you go.

House Committee

Throughout this year, the members of the House Committee attempted to work together to function well. The usual problems arose. For example, in instances when the girls did not clean the filters in the washing machines they were reminded of the proper maintenance. In some instances many reminders had to be given.

This year, we compiled, what we felt were, the objectives of the House Committee and outlined the duties of its members. This can be passed on to future students. A listing of our records was compiled in a book and additional entries were made when new records were purchased. This book will serve as a permanent record. The problem of untidy kitchenettes was solved by assigning two students per week to take the responsibility of maintaining its cleanliness. Crates were left on each floor to hold empty soft drink bottles. Again two students are assigned to take the crate downstairs when it is full. So far, this method has met the need satisfactorily. Also, a rummage sale was held this year. Items not claimed by their owners were auctioned to the highest bidder. A total of $2.10 was raised.

In conclusion, I think that it is helpful for students to be active on the House Committee. In this way they share some of the responsibility; both sides are free to give their opinion concerning a matter. Perhaps with the changes occurring in nursing education there will be changes made in regard to this committee. However, I enjoyed working on the committee and wish all the following students "happy residence living"

Nurses Retreat

Fashions?

The objectives of the Nurses Christian fellowship are twofold: (1) to know Christ and (2) to make Him known.

It was immediately realized by the executive that there were two different groups with which to work -- those who had been introduced to our Christianity and those who hadn't. Therefore the program must be designed to introduce basic elementary Christianity. This was attempted through the use of Themes. Each theme was the expression of a thought which we tried to introduce through group meetings. Our first theme: "We Have A Friend Who Cares" had several purposes. Primarily, the generalized topics were to provoke interest and provide contact with new students. Also this theme identified one aspect of Christianity -- Loving Concern. The next theme: "Who Is This Friend?" was an attempt at progressing from the general to the specific. Regular Bible studies were held in addition to the weekly meetings.

Various social events were held throughout the year and we attempted to increase the interaction with other N.C.F. groups in Winnipeg. The 'Nurses Retreat', held in March was one example of this. Taking all things into consideration, we found the above methods successful in stimulating interest and participation in N.C.F.

Yearbook Committee

As the final pages of "White Wings '68" are completed and another class graduates, I realize how fortunate I am in being able to claim Victoria General Hospital School of Nursing as my training school. The most outstanding feature of the school for me is the tremendous amount of school spirit that exists here. Nowhere could this be more evident than in the production of this yearbook. I am deeply indebted to all those who contributed their time, energy and talent in the form of ideas, guidance, and assistance with layouts. In particular I would like to mention our faculty advisor, Mrs. P. Chuckmala and our representative from the Canadian Student Yearbooks Ltd., Mr. J. Harrison.

It seems that anyone who writes any kind of memoir for the Class of '68 mentions change. Our yearbook is no exception. It has changed in almost every way possible, from its appearance to its method of production. On the occasion of the fiftieth Anniversary of our school a short history has been included.

We, the staff, sincerely hope that you will enjoy reading "White Wings '68" as much as we have enjoyed compiling it, and that it will be a treasure chest of fond memories for you.

- May 26 -- A barbecue and dance -- definitely the wrong time of year. (University was out) It was a colossal flop.
- Aug. 31 -- Graduation of the class of '67 at the International Inn with music by Lew Dickson. There was a large crowd and everyone had a good time.
- Sept. 6 -- The class of '70 arrived. The probies or first years as they are called. To show them 3rd and 2nd years were not to be feared, a getting to know you party was held.
- Sept. 16 -- We're trying again -- a Barbecue. This time a roaring success. Girls with guys to spare.
- Nov. 3 -- A belated Hallowe'en Dance. You've heard of lack of communications -- well this dance lacked just that. Another flop.
- Oct. 3 -- A day which every first year fears. INITIATION -- Bed Pan routine and all.
- Dec. 8 -- Christmas time and Christmas dance. It's not a flop -- success.' A band called the Safe and Sound and too many men. We won't complain though. Our guests -- Air Force, Army, Medicine, Engineers, U of W and friends.
- Jan. 1 -- HAPPY NEW YEAR 1968.
- Jan. 26 -- Something new -- Roller skating and Bowling with a record hop afterwards. Must have been good -- the kids want to do it again.
- Feb. 9 -- We're going formal with M.S.N.A. at the International Inn. Our princess, Mae Graham (68) with a number of girls from the school as moral support.
- Mar. 22 -- Victoria General Hospital School of Nursing's 50th Anniversary Tea. Generous contributions from the girls and as usual another successful Day.
- Mar. 27 -- Another step towards Graduation for the class of 1968. The Undergrad banquet for the girls. The food -- Champs Chicken. The entertainment great -- the girls from the VIC.
- Mar. 29 -- Last day for most of the '68's with Roses and a breakfast prepared by the Little Sisters. A few tears, but its part of the game.
